CLOVERPORT ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Getting Ball Diamond In First-Class Shape. Grand Stand Will Be Screened And Covered, New Seats Installed And Diamond Will Be Graded As Soon As Weather Permits

A GOOD TEAM IS PROMISED

The Cloverport Athletic Association will begin putting the West End Ball Park in first-class shape this week for the incoming season. Everything possible for the comfort and convenience of patrons will be carefully looked after, as well as the comfort of the players. As this promises to be a banner season for the team the management is leaving nothing undone that will add comfort and pleasure to the National pastime.

The grand stand will be covered and screened—something that should be done by all means—for the protection of patrons in inclement weather. The diamond will be graded, the low places filled in and otherwise leveled up and fixed so it will drain easily. By doing this it will take almost a downpour to make it unfit for use.

The team will be composed almost exclusively of home boys and will be managed by home people, therefore they will receive, which they deserve with a clean, first-class article of baseball, the support of the entire locality.

CLOVERPORT PROPERTY

Better Than Golden West--Near-est Is The Best--Farmers Make Investments After Each Crop Of Tobacco.

Farmers and pensioners are beginning to realize it's better to invest in Cloverport real estate than Florida town lots that are from five to twenty feet under water. One old pensioner placed his money in six houses. He got fifty dollars a month for rents—two farmers have been making it a practice to build a house every crop of tobacco, their houses brought them five dollars a month three years ago, they now rent for eight. This shows that better investments are found nearer at home than in wild cat western schemes.

A Mean Man.

Down in Oklahoma the other day a man went into a store to buy a saw. He saw the kind he wanted and asked the price. It was $1.65, the dealer said.

"Good gracious," said the man, "I can get the same thing from Sears, Roebuck & Co. for $1.35."

"That's less than it cost me," said the dealer, "but I'll sell it on the same

THE VOICE OF WILSON STRONG FOR THE PEOPLE

The great voice of America does not come from seats of learning. It comes in a murmur from the hills and woods and the farm and factories and the mills, rolling on and gaining volume until it comes from the homes of common men. Do these murmurs echo in the corridors of universities? I have not heard them.

The universities would make men forget their common origins; forget their universal sympathies and join a class—and no class can serve America.

Nations are renewed from the ranks of unknown men. National life is renewed from the bottom and not from the top.

The common man has a divine right of a chance to arise.

From an address by Woodrow Wilson at Pittsburg Pa., a year before he was nominated for Governor of New Jersey.

BANK OF GLEN DEAN GOES TO THE WALL

Bank Of Hardinsburg & Trust Company Takes Charge Of It--President, Hon. D. C. Moorman Saves Depositors.

BANK HAD HARD PULL

The Bank of Glen Dean closed its doors last Saturday and turned its money and notes over to the Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Company to be wound up. The Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Co., assume the payment of all deposits in full. This Bank has had a hard time every since the Fordsville Bank failed it being one of the chain of Banks organized by the late Ike Adair, and but for the backing given it by the Hon. D. C. Moorman, the President, it would have closed its doors some time ago. He stood by it with his money and credit and saved the depositors. He also made the arrangements with the Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Co., to take care of the depositors. The stockholders, it is said, will get 10 or 15 per cent of their stock in the final wind up.

terms as the mail-order house, just the same.

"All right," said the customer. "You can send it along and charge it to my account."

"Not on your life," the dealer replied. "No charge accounts. You can't do business with the mail-order house that way. Fork over the cash."

The customer complied.

"Now two cents for postage and five cents for money order."

"What—"

"Certainly, you have to send a letter and a money order to a mail-order house, you know."

The customer, inwardly raving, kept to his agreement and paid the seven cents.

"Now twenty-five cents expressage." "Well, I'll be—," he said, but paid it, saying: "Now hand me that saw and I'll take it home myself and be rid of this foolery."

"Hand it to you? Where do you think you are? You're in Oklahoma, and I'm in Chicago, and you'll have to wait two weeks for that saw."

Whereupon he hung the saw on a peg and put the money in his cash drawer.

"That makes $1.67," he said. "It has cost you two cents more and taken two weeks longer to get it than if you had paid my price in the first place."—The Square Dealer.

TILE FACTORY

Will Open Up With New Machinery In Several Departments. Things Will Hum When The Sun Shines.

The tile factory, which has been shut down for the last two months installing new machinery in several departments, will soon be ready to start up, and in order to fill their orders promptly will have to double the force of workmen to keep up the long list of orders that has already accumulated. The inclement weather in the last two months has accumulated a lot of work at the shops which will call for another increase to their already large force now employed.

Small Pox Playing Out.

Small pox, as far as Hawesville is concerned, appears to be a joke. There are no new cases, and the five or six who originally had it, can hardly be charged with being sick, although they are closely confined to their homes. It is not believed there will be any further spread of the complaint, and people are coming and going as if nothing had happened.

One case is reported at Owensboro and about thirty in Cloverport, with one death in the latter place.—Hawesville Clarion.

GAINING STRENGTH WHERE HE WAS REGARDED HOPELESS

Jamestown, (N. Y.) Journal

As time rolls around the indications are pointing more strongly to the nomination of Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey as the Democratic candidate for President. He appears to be gaining strength in states and districts where a few weeks ago his case was regarded as hopeless and useless, there is a sweeping change in the trend of Democratic politics, Governor Wilson will go into the Baltimore convention with a strong following, if not an absolute control of the situation.

BUILDING CONTRACTS

Being Let For Spring--Lillard Brothers, John Lawson And Lud Bowlds Having Estimates Made On Residences.

Two years ago there were eighteen vacant houses in the lower end of the city, or thirty-one over town. One month later they were all full—Cloverport had settled down to a steady, vigorous growth and has been fast increasing its population. The town had a setback by the failure of brick yards, but has recovered itself now and is going to show unusual activities in the building line. The Lillard Bros., Messrs. Si and John, are having estimates made on two cottages they will build for rent. John Lawson has let a contract for a two story, six room dwelling. Lud Bowlds is going to remodel his house down near the old Short Line, known as the Jack Wilkerson property. Julian Brown is having estimates made on extending his store property back to the alley. It will be of concrete and metal and will have the largest floor surface of any store in town.

Quarterly Court.

Judge Waggoner had a busy court last Monday. More than forty cases were on the docket. The case of Marshall against Gillinwater took up the greater part of the day. The jury in this case returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

BABY IN BARREL

Floating Down Cumberland River--Monroe County Citizens Excited Over Discovery Alive And Contented.

Glasgow, Ky., March 16.—Great excitement prevails in Monroe county over the finding of a little baby floating down the Cumberland river in a barrel. The baby was a boy and seemingly about one year old. The barrel was securely fastened to two logs and was so arranged that the youngster could not crawl or fall out. The baby was well dressed and was resting on a cosy little bed in the barrel snugly tucked in a blue blanket. Pinned upon the dress was a slip of paper with the words, "Good-bye, Willie," written upon it. The child is being tenderly cared for, and in the meantime every effort is being made to find out the starting point of the youngster in the hope of obtaining a clue to its parents.

Nothing in years has caused so much comment and indignation among citizens as the finding of the baby on his lonely journey exposed to the bad weather. Officers say they will spare neither time nor means in the hope of bringing the guilty persons to account for their inhuman action.

Boost a Bit!

Here, you discontented knocker!
Growlin' 'bout the country's ills,
Chloroform yer dismal talker,
Take a course o' liver pills.
Stop yer durn ki-o-tee howlin'!
Chaw some sand an' git some grit,
Don't sit in the dumps a-growlin',
Jump the roost
An' boost
A bit!

Fall in while the band's a-playin',
Ketch the step and march along;
'Stead o' pessimistic brayin',
Jine the halleluyer song!
Drop yer hammer—do some rootin'—
Grab a horn, you cuss, an' split
Every echo with yer tootin'!

Jump the roost
An' boost
A bit!

CHAIRMAN JOHNSON TO MAKE HARD FIGHT

To Prevent Loose Divorce Laws For The District of Columbia.

Washington, March 14.—Chairman Ben Johnson, of the District of Columbia Committee, discussing today an attempt to enlarge the legal grounds for divorce in the district, said in part: "I have been a member of three legislative bodies—the Kentucky House of Representatives, the Kentucky Senate and member of Congress. I have never yet, in my entire legislative experience, either directly or indirectly, sought to strangle a bill in committee. I see, however, that an attempt is to be made in the District of Columbia to enlarge the legal ground for divorce.

In the Capitol of this great nation there is but one cause for absolute divorce, and that cause is adultery. This law should be the law of every state in this great union of states. Divorce has become a national curse.

Now an attempt is to be made to have Congress repeal this most sacred law and enlarge the grounds for divorce. I wish to declare that I shall use to the fullest extent every legislative function within my reach to prevent the repeal of this law in the nation's Capitol.

"The laws in the District of Columbia relative to 'divorce from bed and board' are ample to meet every other contingency which may arise in the marital relation. If I accomplish nothing else in life, other than prevent the nation's Capitol from becoming a 'divorce mill,' my life, with all its failures, will have been to some advantage to my country's honor."

Harvey Allen's Plan.

Harvey Allen's experiences as city marshal for one day, Saturday, developed that he has some original ideas about how the duties should be performed. His first and only arrest was for drunkenness, and instead of throwing the man in jail or having him fined, he lead him to the livery stable, with instructions to the stable keeper to put him in a stall for repentance and sleep. When he woke up and was noisy, he was to be tied with a rope. If he had sobered up and was hungry or thirsty, he was to have a horse's rations of hay and the hose was to be turned on him. We are a little anxious to know how the thing would have turned out if the fellow had not sobered up enough to slip out the back way and make a dash for his home in the country. At any rate, Hawesville is not likely to be bothered with him again soon while Allen is on duty.—Hawesville Clarion.

TIGHTENING DOWN ON KINK BOOZE

Is The Legislature Of Kentucky. Now Unlawful For One To Be Caught With Whiskey In Dry Territory.

There are few complaining about the acts of the late legislature, but if there is any clique, clan or class that has less cause than another to complain it is the aggregation known as the "Drys." Surely no legislature in the country has ever done more in a single session to clinch local option legislation than the present one. First of all the county unit bill was passed. Then the bill to repeal the law that forbids the shipment from one part of the state into local option territory intoxicating liquor was defeated. The next "dry" step was the passage of the bill which forbids the sale in any local option territory of any beverage that contains any amount of alcohol. Last, but not least, and most important of all for Hawesville and Hancock county, a bill was passed which makes it unlawful for anyone to purchase, produce or deliver intoxicating liquors in "dry" territory. The "sick friend" excuse so common in the past with many "old soaks" in this town and county will now probably be at an end. That is, if the local officials will enforce the law. There is no excuse now for the law-abiding local people to allow a lot of irresponsible blacks and whites to distribute liquor here as if saloons were legalized. There should now be a determined effort on the part of all good citizens to see that officers do their duty, and if they do not, they should be impeached or otherwise supplanted by those who will.—Hawesville Clarion.

LIFE'S BEST TIME

At Fifty Years Old--Lady Warwick Says Youth Is Not Optimistic--Destroy Your Calendars.

The Countess of Warwick says: "The best time of life is always after the age of 30. Better than that 40. The very best time of life is 50, which is my age. At the age of 18 I was a pessimist". She went on to explain that she enjoyed her age most because of what she has learned, of putting her experience and knowledge to the best uses and knowing better how to enjoy the days. She said that she wished we had no calendars, because counting the years causes old age.

Are You Going to do Any Building,

Repairing, Painting, Concreting, Putting Down and Finishing Hardwood Floors This Spring?

I want to impress on you the fact that in very few places (Cities not excepted) one person or firm carries everything in stock necessary to build, from the cement for the foundation to the newest and best paints and varnishes for finishing. I respectfully ask that you call and examine my stock and get my prices, which you will find equalled by few. I especially call attention to my new stock of PAINTS, OILS AND VARNISHES—not a gallon of old stock carried over from last year. I have with me and am prepared to figure on any kind of contract work in my line. Any "special" planning mill work not in stock will be made on short notice. I give below a partial list of the material carried in stock. Look it over. No doubt there is something in it you need or will need soon and you will be saved the extra trouble and expense of hunting around for it or ordering it from out of town. I am in the business for a reasonable profit—to live and let live and to make satisfied customers which are my best advertisements.

A First-class Carpenter, Painter, Bricklayer, Plasterer, Concrete and House-moving man

All kinds of Framing and Finishing Lumber, Doors, Windows, Mouldings, Hardwood and Pine Flooring, Ceiling, Lattice, Porch Columns, Moulded Base, Window and Door Casing, Building Hardware, Rubber Roofing, Laths, Shingles, Plastering Hair, Lime, Cement, Brick, Sand, Crushed Stone, Paints, Oils and Varnishes, Shingle Stain, Coal Tar, Floor Finishes, Paint and Hardwood Floor Brushes, Window Glass, Etc., Etc.

This advertisement is to remind you of what I have and to ask a liberal share of your patronage. Thanking you in advance for a continuance of past favors, and assuring you of my best interest to serve you promptly and accurately, I am, very respectfully,

NINE THOUSAND ACRES PLEDGED

To Green River Association For This Year--Splendid Prices And Liberal Treatment Of Past Years Has Strengthened Pooling Organizations.

Although the climatic conditions have been so unfavorable and the roads through the county nearly impassable at many places that there has been no organized or systematic effort made to have the pooling pledges of the different associations for the next crop of tobacco, signed up by the farmers, it is still certain that the majority of those who pooled last year have again signed for this year's crop.

Secretary Walter Atherton, of the Green River Tobacco Growers' Association,

For Women Who Care

Of course you use an antiseptic in your family and in the care of your own person, and you want the best.

Instead of what you have been using such as liquid or tablet antiseptics or peroxide, won't you please try Paxtine, a concentrated antiseptic powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

Paxtine is more economical, more cleansing, more germicidal and more healing than anything you ever used.

Paxtine
ANTISEPTIC

In the toilet—to cleanse and whiten the teeth, remove tartar and prevent decay. To disinfect the mouth, destroy disease germs, and purify the breath. To keep artificial teeth and bridgework clean and odorless. To remove nicotine from the teeth and purify the breath after smoking. To eradicate perspiration odors by sponge bathing.

As a medicinal agent for local treatment of feminine ills where pelvic catarrh, inflammation and ulceration exist, nothing equals hot douches of Paxtine. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. has been regularly advising their patients to use it because of its extraordinary cleansing, healing and germicidal power. For this purpose alone Paxtine is worth its weight in gold. Also for nasal catarrh, sore throat, inflamed eyes, cuts and wounds. All druggists, 25 and 50 cents a box. Trial box and testimony of 31 women free on request.

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

tion stated yesterday that while there were about 12,000 acres of tobacco pledged to the pool last year during the entire season in Daviess county, that already nearly 9,000 acres had been pledged for this year in Daviess county. He stated that but little of the tobacco had been pledged in the other counties, but as soon as the roads became better and more of the farmers had the opportunity of getting to the different pooling places that the pledges would roll in in earnest.

It is the general impression with the officials of the organizations that there will be more tobacco pooled this year than has ever before been pooled, because of the satisfactory prices that have been received for the past few years and also because of the perfect harmony that has existed between the poolers and the tobacco men for some time.—Sundays Owensboro Messenger.

FLOATING SAW MILL

Will Be Equipped For The Building Of Dam 46 Near Cloverport If Town Gets It Here.

The building of the big lock and dam either at or near Cloverport will mean a big increase in business and population. To give an idea what a big proposition it is, the Henderson Gleaner says: "In regard to dam 48 which will begin as soon as the water gets in 15 feet of low water mark. It will take 500 men five years to build the dam. It will take several mills to saw the lumber to build this dam. One and one half million feet yearly or in five years 7,500,000 feet. A floating planing mill and saw mills will be equipped to saw out the patterns at the dam. Besides the lumber it will take 1,700,000 tons of steel, 6,000 barrels of cement, 100 tons of concrete, besides thousands of pounds of bolts and spikes. This will be the first dam built on the lower Ohio. Dam 46 will be built at or near Cloverport."

The Farmer's Check Book

It has been said that the Farmer's check book saves him more than all of the labor-saving machines that have been invented for his use. It is certainly true that the convenience of drawing checks instead of having to handle money is a great saving of time, both in the matter of money-handling and in the keeping of accounts. The check stubs are such a dependable record of expenditures and the cancelled checks themselves an excellent receipt. In paying of labor this is very important.

When you are in town we would be glad to discuss the matter with you.

LEAVE BACK SEAT

Alone—Your Wares Are Good Enough For Front Window, Says Father Vaughan At New York Banquet.

Father Vaughan at the Knights of Columbus banquet in New York recently, urged those present to keep their wares in the front window—and not be content to occupy a back seat in their work. He said: "An American friend of mine once asked me if I wasn't occupying a back seat. I told him I thought not but I would look into the matter, and if I found that he was right, I should send him an apology for taking his place."

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but not permanently. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is proof of merit from this vicinity.

Henry Nall, Hartford, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for about a year and have found them to be an excellent remedy for kidney complaint. I had pains in my back and in my sides. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box and they did me a world of good. I can therefore recommend them to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

SIZE DOESN'T COUNT

Size does not always count. The stinger is the small part of the bee, but you can soon learn which end it's on.

It isn't always the size of a bank account that we consider, it's the man behind it. We feel that the humble depositor is entitled to the same consideration as the man who owns a mint. Our banking facilities are at the disposal of all alike. We are here to help you if we can. The farmer, planter, mechanic, business man, stockman, laborer, professional man—all are invited to become patrons of our bank. The size of the account is not of first importance. Come in and start an account today.

DRYS UP AGAINST AN INTRICATE PROPOSITION

Hardin county, together with all other counties in the State who have voted dry, says the Elizabethtown News, are up against an intricate proposition, that of being the recipients of all the laws prohibitory enacted by the Kentucky legislature, and yet being compelled to sit quietly by and see a large supply of the "cup that cheers" (?) shipped in from other states. We have all the laws that could be desired and that are necessary to prevent the shipping of liquor into dry territory in so far as the State is concerned, and these laws are being fairly rigidly enforced, and yet with all this, we have a good per cent as much liquor here as if these laws were not upon the statute books, and the officers of the law are powerless to prevent its coming. How is this, you will ask? Why, because the laws of the United States allow the shipment of liquor from an adjoining state into dry territory, and holds that an interference with such shipment is a violation of the Inter State Commerce Law. There you have it in a nut shell, you also have the solution of the problem of why you see so much drinking in a town which is supposedly dry, a solution of the problem of why after an officer of the law has succeeded in breaking up and keeping under subjugation the blind tigers in his locality, is yet compelled to cope with the crime of drunkenness. Under the present state of affairs, Elizabethtown is "dry," that is so far as the sale of liquor within her confines are concerned, but how easy a matter it is for anyone, regardless of age, color, habits or anything else, to send a few dollars either to Cincinnati, New Albany, Jeffersonville or any "wet" point out of Kentucky, and in return therefor receive a consignment of whiskey, and the local officers are powerless to prevent it.

There is no relief from this injustice save through our National Congress. You may assist in the elimination of this evil; every citizen of the country may render aid in the righting of this wrong and in the manner which we propose to point out to you: there is now pending before the National Congress a bill known as the "Sheppard-Kenyon" bill and which is aimed at this very evil—to prevent the shipment of liquor by one state into a dry territory of another state, and which, if enacted into a law, will enable us to look after the enforcement of our own prohibitory laws without the interference by shipment from other states.

This bill, in brief, provides that there shall be no shipment from any state into "dry" territory, whether it be in the same state or not, and there shall be no property right in liquors being conveyed into "dry" territory by railway or express companies.

This absolutely shuts off the whiskey traffic.

Write to Senator Bradley and to Congressman Johnson; urge them to interest themselves in and vote for the passage of this bill. Do not be satisfied with just writing yourself, but get your friends to write also, and above all things "do it now." In union there is strength and if sufficient pressure is brought from every quarter, we may reasonably expect the passage of this measure, and with all the splendid results which will necessarily follow its passage.

BANK RESERVE PROBLEM.

Discussing a subject which presents various interesting phases, Banking Reform, the official organ of the National Citizens' League, urges that the remedy for the greatest trouble in our national banking and currency system, will be found in the reformation of the present reserve system, saying among other things:

"There is no secret about this system. Every one who knows anything about banking knows how it works and why. The banks that control this reserve money are themselves controlled by their directors and stockholders. Through interlocking directorates and common stockholders the banks are united. Thus a single individual or a single group of individuals may control a billion dollars of bank resources. This single group may therefore say who shall not borrow from this centralized fund, how it shall be used and how it shall not be used. Whether this controlling interests does say how it shall not be used is beside the question. The existence of such a power is equally obnoxious whether it is tyrannical or benevolent, whether it is a theoretical menace or a practical danger.

The investigation of the "Money Trust" is concerned with this monopoly of money—the centralization of bank reserves in New York. If the investigation results in a wider diffusion of knowledge as to the causes of this centralization it will not be in vain. Recitation of the evils wrought by monopoly will be a mere by-product. Proof of tyrannical acts and discrimination in the lending or use of these funds will be interesting and in a way enlightening. Denouncing the money monopoly as the "Financial Mafia" is first-rate rhetoric. Mentioning the unholy use of other people's money in properly indignant terms is not objectionable.

But whatever the allegations and whatever the proofs, the investigation will be a dismal failure if it does not make notorious the great fact that the underlying cause of all the evils is a pernicious reserve system.

"No investigation, no political pyrotechnics, no revelations of financial chicanery, of money tyranny, or black-hand methods will make any clearer the salient fact that centralization of reserves and the lack of a rediscount market are the fatal defects. A sincere, systematic and thorough investigation will disclose finally and emphatically the reason for the demand of the National Citizens' League that the business of the country be divorced from Wall Street."

They are ploughing with dynamite now to such an extent, says an exchange, that one manufacturer of explosives sold to farmers 500,000 pounds in 1898, 750,000 pounds in 1909, 1,500,000 pounds in 1910, 3,000,000 in 1911, and the indications are that this one concern will ship 5,000,000 pounds to farmers this year.

This method of ploughing was the idea of a southern farmer, who found that it loosened up the subsoil as no ordinary method of cultivation could do. The results were astonishing in the increased size of his crops, and so out of proportion to the cost of the dynamite that it rapidly became popular.

Hereafter any man who wants to run for office in Kentucky or any district, county or municipality thereof, whether rich or poor, can do so, as the expense is trifling. The State will foot the bill for all primaries of either party and no man will have to hesitate about running on account of the expense. This is among the best laws passed by the recent Legislature and will do more to arrest fraud and bribery in elections than any law that could have been enacted.

Satisfied customers, is Marion Weatherholt's business motto. That's a good motto for every man in business. A satisfied customer always comes back and never knocks. Another thing Marion Weatherholt is not afraid to do and that is to advertise. A man who advertises and backs his advertising up by satisfying his customers, is always busy.

U. S. Senator Wm. Bradley says he still holds the state of Kentucky in the Taft column. The friends of Roosevelt are still active and there will be something lively when the Republican convention meets in this State to name the delegates.

The bright sunshine and the chirp of the birds will bring joy and gladness to the hearts of the farmers. The season this year is apparently late, but much good work will be done when these men in the rural settlements get busy.

The appointment of R. G. Higdon as reporter for Court of Appeals is especially pleasing to all of his friends. Mr. Higdon is well known here. He is a splendid Clerk and a nice clean man and in every way worthy of the position.

We call attention to the alphabet for school children published in another column. It should be read by everybody, school teachers especially, who should cut it out and post it in their school rooms.

The Kentucky legislature has adjourned. While a great deal of work they did was important, the people of the State would have been better off without much of it.

Mr. Roosevelt will open his campaign against President Taft in a public address in New York City this week.

Mr. Hager, editor of The Owensboro Inquirer, has been chose to manage the Woodrow Wilson campaign in Kentucky.

Kept Oath Never to Speak to Each Other After Quarrel.

That John and Joseph Hedley, brothers, swore never to speak to each other and for thirty-five years kept their oaths was brought out in the federal court at Kansas City through the reading of depositions in a case in which Joseph sued to recover John's estate.

After a quarrel nearly forty years ago the brothers parted, Joseph going to Pennsylvania. John, a bachelor, made his home with Mrs. Elizabeth Foley in Kansas City. Kan. John died five years ago, leaving, according to Mrs. Foley, a verbal will bequeathing to her his $20,000 estate.

FOUND MEN WHO HAD DOG FACES AND BIRD BEAKS

German From Africa Also Tells of Race That Stands on One Leg.

Dr. Carl Kumm, African explorer and scientist, will lay evidence before the heads of the National Geographical society at Washington that he has discovered men with the faces of dogs and of birds living in the heart of the dark continent.

"I have proof," declared Dr. Kumm, "that I have found negroes with the faces of dogs. They spoke in a low guttural bark not unlike that of the canine. They live by clans and their mode of life is not unlike that of the stone age.

"In another part of Africa far from the haunts of white men I discovered a tribe of negroes who ran about like storks on one leg. Their other leg was never used, and they carried it bent or drawn taut. These men live in a section of the country where there are many pools and ponds of water.

"In still another part of Africa there are negroes whose faces are virtually like the beak of a bird. They live in trees."

BIBLE READ IN 18 HOURS.

Sixty Readers In Relays Go From Cover to Cover Without a Halt.

The Bible from the first chapter of Genesis to the last word of Revelation was read aloud in one of the leading churches of Peas, Tex., without a halt in eighteen hours.

The entertainment began at 6 o'clock in the morning and was finished at midnight. Sixty readers read in turn, each giving place to another as his or her voice became husky.

The reading began with a small audience, for the hour was early, but as the day wore on interest in the novel entertainment was stimulated, and by noon the church was filled.

Throughout the afternoon and evening the congregation grew, and at midnight, when the last reader pronounced the final words, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, amen," there was not an inch of vacant room in the aisles around the altar.

FOR EXECUTIONS BY DRUG.

Maryland Warden For Using Chloroform to Carry Out Death Sentences.

Warden Weyler of the Baltimore state penitentiary, noted as a prison reformer and disciplinarian, has suggested to a committee of the legislature the administration of chloroform as a substitute for hanging in capital punishment.

A bill is now before the legislature to substitute execution by electricity in Maryland for hanging, but Warden Weyler says that chloroform is the most painless method. He would have the condemned person privately drugged in a cell, with none of the spectacular features usually surrounding executions.

The committee was impressed with the warden's suggestion. He is unalterably opposed to executions taking place in the state prison because of the effect upon the prisoners.

THE DOE RUN FILL

On The Henderson Route Will Cost About $130,000.

The Henderson Route railway continues its policy of permanent improvements all along the line. Wherever it is practicable to do so, all trestles are being replaced by permanent dirt fills. The next fill in contemplation, and the largest and most expensive on the entire system, is to be at the famous Doe Run trestle in Meade county. This is the highest bridge on the entire road, and work on the fill, it is reported, will begin in a short time. This bridge is 300 or 400 yards long, and at the highest point is 130 feet in the air. The estimated cost of the fill will be $130,000 and the dirt can be secured from a hill nearby. —Hawesville Clarion.

GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH Farm Journal

For $1.00 you can get now not only the FARM JOURNAL for FOUR full years, but also your choice of any one of our famous booklets, "Money-making Secrets," that other people have bought by the HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Just note what the information given in one of them, "The Million Egg-Farm," did for Robert Liddle, a clerk of Scranton, Pa.

In May, 1910, Robert bought 2300 day-old chicks. He spent just one week studying the methods now given in this book. This was his only preparation for the business. Result—this "greenhorn" raised 95 per cent. of all his chicks—a most uncommon record! Of these, 1350 proved to be pullets. In less than seven months he was getting 425 eggs daily, and selling them at 58 cents a dozen. His feed cost averaged $4.00 a day, leaving him OVER $17.00 A DAY PROFIT,—and this before all his pullets had begun laying.

Isn't "Money-making Secrets" a good name for such booklets?

Read what people say of the other booklets, and of the FARM JOURNAL itself:—

"I find your Egg-Book worth untold dollars," says ROY CRANEY, Illinois. "What it tells would take a beginner years to learn."

"I am much pleased with the Butter Book," writes F. J. DICKSON, Illinois, "and would like to know how I could secure 300 copies, one for each patron of our creamery."

"Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says F. M. WARNOCK, Penna.

"If your other booklets contain as much valuable information as the Egg-Book, I will consider them cheap at double the price," says F. W. MAXFIELD, New York.

T. F. MCCREA, a missionary in China, writes, "I found Garden Gold a great help in my garden this summer. I lost my health in the great famine, trying to save the starving Chinese, and I am trying to get it back by getting near to the soil. After several hours tussle with the Chinese language, and mission problems, it is a great rest to get out with the vegetables, trees, chickens, etc. I am saving money and regaining my health. My wife and I both find FARM JOURNAL indispensable. We like its clean, moral, optimistic tone, and look upon it as a constructive force making for purity, health, happiness, and righteous prosperity."

"I think your Egg-Book is a wonder," says C. P. SHIREY, Penna.

"The FARM JOURNAL beats them all," writes T. H. POTTER, Penna. "Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription."

"One year I took another agricultural paper," says N. M. GLADWIN, Washington, "and it took a whole column to tell what FARM JOURNAL tells in one paragraph."

"I was very greatly helped by your garden page," writes Mrs. JOE LAWRENCE, Saskatchewan. "I was never successful in growing cabbage until last summer, when I tried the FARM JOURNAL way. Now I have more than I need to use, so have had the pleasure of giving several neighbors a treat."

"FARM JOURNAL was a regular visitor at my boyhood home," writes Dr. WILLIAM DAVIS, New Jersey. "When the first copy came, it carried me back ten years, and I felt a boy again. I shall never be with it again—I want home to see like home. When it arrives, I feel the gladness jump right into me. I begin on the first page and read to my wife until half-past ten, and all through the month I drink of its cream. You must work hard to keep it so rich."

"If I could get as good interest on every dollar as I get from the FARM JOURNAL, I would soon be a millionaire," says A. W. WEITZEL, Penna.

"FARM JOURNAL is good for the man behind the counter, as well as the man in the field," says J. I. SLOAT, a Virginia bank clerk.

MONEY-MAKING SECRETS.

These booklets are 6 by 9 inches, all profusely illustrated.

POULTRY SECRETS is a great collection of discoveries and methods of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, the Curtis method of securing 50 per cent. more pullets than cockerels, Boyer's method of insuring fertility, with priceless secrets of mating, breeding, feed and feeding, how to produce winter eggs, and others long jealously guarded, now first published.

HOISE SECRETS exposes the methods of "bushings," "plugging," cocaine and gasoline doping, and other tricks of "gyps" and swindlers, and enables any one to tell an unsound horse. It also gives many valuable training, feeding, breeding and veterinary secrets.

THE MILLION EGG-FARM tells all of the methods by which J. M. Foster makes over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. Backyard chicken-raising, learn all about the "Rancocas Unit," and how Foster FEEDS his hens to make them produce such quantities of eggs, especially in winter.

CORN SECRETS, the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King," tells how to get ten to twenty bushels more per acre of corn rich in protein and the best stock-feeding elements. Pictures make every process plain.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells of seven cows that produced half a ton of butter each per year (140 pounds is the average). An eye-opener for dairymen. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and learn the best process.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your backyard supply fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, keep a better table, and get cash for your surplus. It tells how to plant, cultivate, harvest and market.

DUCK DOLLARS tells how the great Weber duck-farm near Boston makes every year 50 cents each on 40,000 ducklings. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

TURKEY SECRETS, the latest authority on turkey-raising, discloses fully the methods of Horace Vose, the famous Rhode Island "turkey-man," who supplies the wonderful Thanksgiving turkeys for the White House. It tells how to mate, set eggs, to hatch, to feed and care for the young, to prevent sickness, to fatten, and how to make a turkey-ranch PAY.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

PUDDINGS CAN BE BOILED IN PAPER BAGS.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.

It is not beyond paper bags to boil things, especially puddings. They must be put in thin molds with tight fitting tops, the molds filled only two-thirds—even a little less for some sorts. After the tops are on tight the molds must be set in a lightly greased bag, which has been gently flattened at the bottom so as not to break it, and reinforced along the seam with thick paste, which has been allowed to dry before using. After the pudding is in the bag, the mold standing upright, pour in enough cold water to come three parts up the sides, fold and clip the bag, set it on a trivet with feet an inch high, and put the trivet upon the bottom of the oven. Have the oven hot, keep it so for ten minutes, then slack heat half and cook as long as necessary.

Here follow sundry receipts for puddings adapted to this paper bag boiling, along with a caution—pastry for boiling is better shortened with finely minced suet than with either butter or lard.

Place of honor for the Wilson plum pudding—the lady of the president's plum cake can not be too much referred to. She says: "Mix one cup of sugar, one cup of butter, six eggs beaten separately, four cups of flour, one cup of sweet milk, one half cup jelly, one half cup of molasses, one-half pound suet chopped fine, two pounds of raisins, cut and floured, one cup of cherry preserves, three ounces of citron cut fine, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves, one nutmeg grated. Put in well greased small molds, or square coffee cans, leaving room to rise, use lard for greasing, boil five to six hours; when done remove from molds or cans, wrap in oiled paper, and place in cake box till needed, then steam until hot through, then serve with sauce."

For peach pudding make a square mold of paper bag, paper, clipping the folded corners very well, grease it thickly, and put level over the bottom a pint can of peaches, the very best, drained of all syrup. Pour upon them a rich custard made with two cups of crumbled cake, half a cup of sugar, a scant cup of rich, new milk, four eggs beaten very light and either a large wineglass of sherry or the juice of a lemon. Strew a few sultana or macaroon crumbs on top, slip in another bag very well greased, seal, and bake at slow heat about an hour.

For chocolate pudding put a quart of milk in a double boiler with a very little salt, and when it is hot stir into it four ounces of grated chocolate and a large cup of sugar. Mix two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch smooth in a little cold milk, add it to the chocolate mixture, stir very well, then put in the beaten yolks of three eggs, stir hard, flavor with vanilla, pour into a thin mold and cook inside a greased bag for seven to ten minutes. Cut open the bag top, remove it, and cover the pudding with the egg-whites beaten stiff with half a cup of powdered sugar. Pile them up in the middle, strew lightly with grated chocolate or minced nuts, and set back in the oven till of a light brown. Cook at quick heat, but after putting on the meringue reduce heat more than half. Apple tapioca pudding bakes beautifully in a paper bag. You can use a mold, either tin or paper, or put the cored apples directly in the bottom of the bag, filling the core spaces with sugar and butter, then pouring the soaked tapioca over them. Seal and cook slowly after the first three minutes for twenty-five minutes. (Copyright, 1911, by the Associated Literary Press.)

PUDDINGS OF DEGREE.

By Nicolas Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Pudding a la Baronne: Take half a pound of well-washed, dried and picked currants, half a pound sultana raisins, half a pound of bread crumbs, an ounce of chopped citron and four tablespoonfuls of golden syrup. Mix all well together, then add an ounce of self-raising flour and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, mixed with a pint of milk. Beat all well together and finally add the whites of the eggs, whipped to a firm froth. Fill with this a well-greased paper soufflé dish, place carefully in a bag and bake in oven for an hour and a half. Turn out carefully and serve with a little heated golden syrup poured over and around it.

Pudding a la Mayence: Rub half a pint of bread crumbs through a fine wire sieve, add a tumblerful of any wine and water, the grated rind of a small lemon, first washed and dried, three heaped up tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and one ounce of butter. Mix all together and pour the mixture into a buttered soufflé dish. Add the well beaten yolks of two eggs and the juice of a small lemon carefully strained. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth with a pinch of salt and powdered sugar to taste, color to a pale green with a few drops of spinach coloring or pale pink with a little carmine or cochineal. Pile on top, place in a bag, put into a very moderate oven and bake till the meringue is firmly set. (Copyright, 1911, by Sturgis & Walton Company.)

Farm and Road Improvement

PLANNING FOR THE HOT BED

It Will Reduce Grocery Bill Considerably This Spring—Kansas Way Is One Good Suggestion.

Better think about making that hot-bed for early radishes and lettuce. It doesn't cost much, and it will lower the grocery bill. Here is the way recommended by the horticultural department of the Kansas State Agricultural college:

Dig a hole two feet deep, a little larger than the size of the hot-bed frame. If the hot-bed is to be permanent, the walls of this pit should be lined with brick, stone or cement. When possible, have a shed or board fence on the north side of the bed. It will take less manure to heat the soil. Put two feet of well-mixed fresh horse manure in the hole, wet thoroughly, and tamp. If the manure is not well tamped, the soil will settle unevenly when the manure decays.

Two-inch material makes a better and stronger frame and will last longer. The front of the frame should be six inches high, the back eighteen inches. Put five inches of dirt on the manure, preferably the richest soil you can get. Fill in around the frame with manure and earth and put the cover on the frame.

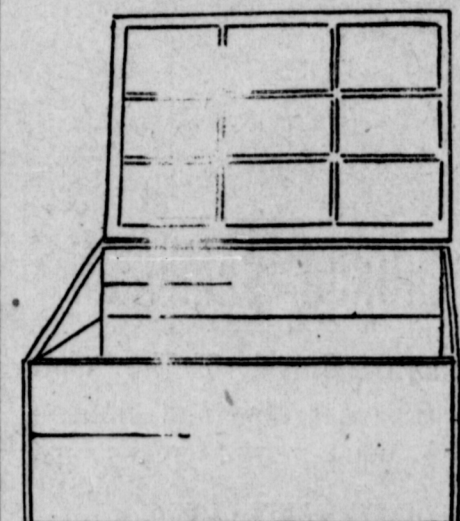

Glass sashes are best for covers. Cloth may be used late in the season. The size of a sash is three by six feet. The bed, then, should be six feet wide and as many times three feet long as desired.

The temperature of the hot-bed will be high at first. Use a thermometer. When the heat has fallen to 85 degrees the seed may be planted. Keep the bed well watered, but do not soak. Too much water rots the manure too rapidly. Be sure the bed is well ventilated. When sashes are used, they must be raised to let in the fresh air in mild weather. Extra covers should be provided for cold days and nights.

GLASS SASH FOR HOT BEDS

Latest Invention Is So Arranged as to Allow Air to Circulate and Ventilate Beds.

The newest invention to make winter gardening easy and successful, is a sash for hotbeds or cold frames that have two layers of glass instead of one. Between these layers is a cushion of dry air about five-eighths of an inch thick. The glass on both sides is lapped and adjusted to lie as close as possible, but no putty is used. When the weather is warm enough to melt snow or ice, the air circulates sufficiently to ventilate the bed; but when it is cold enough to freeze every crevice is sealed by the moisture concealed in the cracks. When very cold weather prevails, the air cushion is absolutely dry and in this condition it is a perfect non-conductor of either heat or cold.

Even in zero weather the sun, shining through the glass and enclosed air raises the temperature of the bed to a good growing warmth; and at night only a portion of this warmth escapes.

Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, beets, violets and many plants, it is claimed, are safe under the double glass, at 8 to 10 degrees below zero; and even tomato, pepper and eggplants have been grown in hot beds without any cover except the double glass in a temperature nearly down to zero.

The saving of labor is considerable when the double-glass sash is used. No covering or uncovering is required, no mats or boards are needed. The double sash for hothouses have been found to be a great saving of heat, less coal is required to keep up a given temperature—the plants make a stronger growth and are less liable to leaf drop.

Well-Trained Hired Man.

The hired man on the farm who has mastered his business is a skilled laborer, and should be so treated, yet it is usually impossible for him to get a small amount per month, a mere trifle, over the price paid the inefficient laborer.

Raising Living at Home.

The first thought of the farmer should be this year how to raise his living at home. Begin now to get everything in readiness for an early start.

250 YEARS OF MANCHU RULE IN CHINA HAVE COME TO AN END

With the Abdication of the Throne the Chinese Come Into Their Own.

Conquest of the Empire Without Parallel in the History of the World.

It is 250 years since the Manchus imposed their rule on China, a rule that comes to an end with the abdication of the present regime on March 1. A republican government will prevail after that date with Yuan Shih Kai as president, Sun Yat Sen as vice president, Tang Shao Yi as premier and Li Yuen Heng as minister of war.

The Chinese are believed to have succeeded in banishing forever the rule of these barbarians, thereby putting an end to an episode without parallel in the history of the world.

Nothing like the Manchu conquest of China ever took place elsewhere in the memory of man and no such domination as that of the Manchus over the people of the empire they ruled has ever happened anywhere else.

China in 1644 was unquestionably the greatest and richest empire of its time. The Manchus were not a nation. Manchu was hardly more than the name of a family, living in a valley in a region too little prosperous and too far out of the way for the great empire to disturb or to know much about its existence.

Noormachu, into whose great ignorant mind first entered the apparently impossible idea of conquering the Chinese empire, deserves a place in history with Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon.

In the thirteenth century some refugees from northern China fled into Manchuria, where they took, or, rather, assumed the name of the Niuhe. There was no nation; they were simply innumerable small clans or tribes or families.

Noormachu Appears.

One of these little clans was that which subsequently gave birth to Noormachu. It occupied a small district on a stream about thirty miles east of Mukden.

How insignificant this little kingdom was may be seen from the chronicles which tell of the victory of Noormachu's grandfather, the "emperor" Jing-dsoo, over his enemies. This emperor ruled an empire which, says the Rev. John Ross in his history of the Manchus, consisted of "six little hamlets of probably a dozen or two families each surrounded by a wall and called a city." To the west was a man called Shwasaina, who, with his nine powerful sons, was "the scourge of the west." This terrible rebel was joined by Jinhoo and his seven sons, and this army of eighteen terrorized the whole region.

"But," says Ross, following the chronicles, "the emperor Jingdsoo was wise, and his eldest son, Lidun, was brave." Lidun mustered all the forces of the kingdom, marched against the enemy and compelled victory over the eighteen robbers.

"This victory secured them five mountain passes and 200 li of territory. This battle, so carefully related by their historians, who trace the rise of their kingdom to it, is the best evidence as to the original size of the Manchu kingdom and the resources of their six 'cities.'"

His little wars with the neighboring clans resulted in the formation of a military confederacy, for none could stand before Noormachu. Finally, in 1618, he had dared to invade the great empire to the south and discovered, probably to his intense astonishment, as did the Goths in Italy, that he was assailed.

Wherein Ming Dynasty Was Weak.

A growing weakness of the Ming dynasty, which had occupied the throne for more than 200 years, was, of course, responsible. The government was so busy dealing with riots and rebellions in its own bailiwick that it thought no more of an outbreak on the northern frontier than we now would of a local strike in the state of Washington. Yet within twenty-six years after Noormachu crossed the Chinese frontier his grandson was made emperor in Peking.

There was a wide awake general on the Manchurian frontier named Tingbi, who saw the dangers of the Manchu incursion and had by his own unaided efforts saved Liaotung province from them. But he was soon removed, and Yuen Ying Tai, a man of letters, who, says one historian, "had never heard a shot fired nor seen the flight of the Manchu arrows," was sent to take his place and defend the extensive border.

Noormachu had not intended to make an attack until he heard of this substitution, but when he found that Tingbi was no longer to oppose him he took the field in 1621 and won his first great victory.

Meanwhile the south of China was aflame with revolt, and the efforts of the government were spent there and not on the northern border.

In 1627 Chung Cheng, the last of the Chinese emperors, ascended the throne, and two years afterward came the most formidable of all the Manchu invasions. This time the Manchus appeared before the walls of Peking.

For several months the Tartars wandered around the walls of Peking, never attempting to assail the city, harrying the country round about, and, one can fancy, too surprised at their own success than to do more than wonder at the actual sight of the great capital of which they had so often heard as the capital of the world.

This incursion was after the death of Noormachu, who is said to have died of chagrin over the only repulse he ever received in his career. He besieged Ningyuen, imagining that he would have an easy victory, but the gallant Chinese commander, Chungwan, was a foeman worthy of his steel. Chungwan had sworn to die in the defense of the city if necessary, and all his soldiers had taken the oath after him.

Chungwan had cannon imported from Europe, and while the Manchus were accustomed to face muskets and were not afraid of them this new weapon bewildered them. After a most desperate defense by the Chinese the Manchu general was obliged to retire, and he died soon after at Mukden in the sixty-eighth year of his age.

Chungwan, like Tingbi, felt the effects of the jealousy of those who pol-waned. At last Li was no longer a mere bandit chief, but the head of a great army, and he conceived the dazzling idea of overthrowing the dynasty and making himself emperor. After making conquests everywhere he attacked the capital itself.

Before beginning the attack he proposed that the emperor should make him king of northwest China and give him a subsidy of a million taels. Hopeless as was the situation, the doomed emperor, Chung Cheng, met the robber's envoy with the dignity becoming him. He dismissed him in silence without an answer of any kind. Then the attack began.

Treacherous hands opened one of the gates, and the rebel robbers streamed into the city and put it to the sword. As they forced the defenders back the Lady Wei, one of the emperor's wives, cried out: "The robbers have penetrated the innermost courts! I will carry out my plan!" And she threw herself into the Imperial river and was drowned.

Fate of the Imperial Family.

When it became evident that all was lost the emperor summoned the members of his family and his servants about him, filled a goblet with wine and passed it around. He then told them that there was no hope, and at his command the empress withdrew into her apartment and hanged herself. When she was gone Chung Cheng, looking fondly at his fifteen-year-old daughter, said, "Why were you born of a father so unfortunate as I am?" and, drawing his sword, slew her on the spot. He then killed all the other female members of his family.

Having committed this Spartan deed, the emperor, after a vain search soned the ear of their sovereign, and he shared Tingbi's fate. Both were decapitated on trumped up charges. Chung Cheng was not yet on the throne. When he ascended it he found himself deprived of the only generals who had both the resolution and the foresight to cope with the Manchus.

Noormachu's Successor.

Noormachu's successor was worthy of him. He was Taitsong or Tienming, a brave and wise ruler. In 1635 he assumed the title of emperor of China.

Taitsong, like Noormachu, did not live to enter the promised land. He died in 1643, the year before the final victory. Before he died he had made his authority recognized among the Tartars to the borders of Japan. Korea was his vassal and Liaotung one of his provinces.

But it was not the Manchus who ended the long struggle. It was the Chinese themselves who delivered their country into the hands of the Tartars. They did it by means of their own divisions, which reached such a point that in the angry clamor the Manchus entered Peking almost unperceived. The story is a strange one.

The feebleness of the Ming government had grown to such a point that the bandit chiefs who were harrying the south and west had become the most powerful persons in the kingdom.

Such buccaners as Sir Henry Morgan sink into utter insignificance compared with these robbers, who thought no more of capturing a city than Napoleon would. Chang Hsien Chang, the most ruthless of them all, is remembered with horror to this day in China.

But his fame was destined to be extinguished by that of a robber greater than himself—Li Tzu Cheng—who was the real conqueror of the Ming dynasty and the man who unwittingly installed the Manchus in Peking.

As Li's fame increased Chang's

$20,000 Farm

FOR $10,000 CASH!

400 acres of the best land in the county. Well improved; well watered and situated in one of the best communities in the county; one-half mile from railroad station. 200 acres of this land is creek bottom. It will produce and does produce 75 bu. of corn to the acre and 1,500 lbs. of tobacco. It grows wheat, clover, timothy. This land if situated in Indiana or Illinois would bring $100 to $150 an acre. A man who knows how to farm can make enough in two years to pay for it. The party wants to sell to go into other business. we consider this a great bargain. For Further particulars write

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root if you do you will be disappointed.

THE FARM SPECIAL TRAIN.

The Agricultural Special train which is being prepared by the College of Agriculture of the State University and the State Department of Agriculture at Frankfort, to be run over the various roads of Kentucky, will be one of the best educational opportunities that has ever been offered to the people of Kentucky. Much time and money has been spent in the effort to make this train a "university on wheels," to be taken to the very doors of the people.

Besides the two living cars which will accommodate the thirty or more people who will compose the staff, there will be six cars devoted to the various lines of agriculture, fitted up with exhibits illustrative of the topics of the lectures. To give an index as to the make up of the exhibits, the following may be mentioned: grain and forage crops for Kentucky; improved farm implements; enlarged photographs, teaching lessons in agriculture; scores of agricultural charts; live stock of various kinds; illustrations of the work of the College; printed bulletins regarding free courses; samples of soils and fertilizers; spraying outfits for orchards and gardens; completely equipped dairy; work of insect and fungus pests and devices for their destruction; rations suitable for various classes of live stock; scores of fowls of all types; incubators, brooders, and poultry supplies; domestic science carefully equipped; large variety of agricultural bulletins and many other interesting things too numerous to mention.

The lectures will be upon such subjects as the following: soil management; restoration of worn soils; mixing and applying fertilizers; crop rotations; feeding, breeding and management of live stock; judging of live stock; market classes and grades of live stock; dairy cattle, breeding and feeding;
